- Stephanie Newman – Seminarian
- Matthew Jewell – Seminarian

The professional leaders of the Central Macomb Conference continue to lead through these new and challenging times. This past year we gathered to worship at the closing of St. Thomas in Sterling Heights and thank God for their many years of service.

In an effort to be proactive in our congregational settings, we met with Pastors Jen Kiefer and Sean Ewbank to discuss open possibilities of joint ministries, mergers, and faithful options for our futures. These conversations continue.

Our congregations continue to share a confirmation program, look for conference-wide events like the Walk Thru the Old Testament experience, and are looking into ways our councils can gather, learn from one another, and plan future activities. We're looking forward to seeing where God leads us next!

Of our two seminarians, Stephanie will be completing her internship this spring and will be awaiting her 1st call. Matthew will be starting his internship this summer in Capac. Blessings to both on their continued journeys!

Respectfully submitted, Pr. Dave Parker
